The Friends of Hannon Library recently purchased two new databases for Hannon Library. The National Geographic Magazine Archive contains the complete archive of National Geographic Magazine, from 1888 until 1994, with color images of all pages and maps. The Geographic Magazine Archive contains the complete archive of National Geographic Magazine, from 1888 until 1994, with color images of all pages and maps. The

The second annual Ashland Book and Authors Festival, co-sponsored by the Friends of Hannon Library, took place on June 22. The festival was a great success, with hundreds of attendees and over eighty presenters and exhibitors. Friends board members were on hand throughout the day, helping in many ways. Many thanks to all who contributed in any way and especially to Jan Wright and Fela Winfrey for their work coordinating the Festival. Ruby Whalley will serve again as President of the Friends of Hannon Library during 2013-2014.

The Friends of Hannon Library board meets on the second Monday of the month at 4 p.m. The next meeting is October 14; visitors are welcome! One of the board’s ongoing goals is to bring new groups and community members into the Friends membership. As friends, the Friends will sponsor interesting community programming and purchase much-needed books and other library materials. The roster of the Friends of Hannon Library for this year includes:

Michael Ainsworth
Sachi Fujikawa
Gary Street
Gerald Cavanaugh
Beth Megford
Ruby Whalley
Joyce Epstein
Marc Ratner
Jan Wright

Friends members are invited to use Hannon Library’s resources and to attend library events, which will be announced at http://hanlib.sou.edu. Board members are busy arranging events to be held throughout the year, including the annual William Stafford poetry event, which is planned for January 16, 2014. More info to come!

Please remember that gifts to the Friends of Hannon Library are eligible for an Oregon tax credit as an approved cultural organization through the Oregon Cultural Trust. For information go to: www.culturaltrust.org

Visit the Festival website at hanlib.sou.edu/bookfest/ to learn more about the Festival and to view a list of the more than 80 participating authors, exhibitors, and presenters.

Interactive Touch Screen Arrives

A NEW 65-INCH interactive touch screen display installed in the library lobby allows users to interactively explore a map highlighting the library’s Learning Commons services including the Writing Center, Math Tutoring, Career Preparation, Reference and more. The display will also feature student videos, Google Maps, slideshows, web pages, and YouTube videos. This interactive flat-panel display is an exciting addition to our signage, giving users the opportunity to explore Hannon Library and our information resources in a fun and innovative way.

Interactive Touch Screen Arrives

A NEW 65-INCH interactive touch screen display installed in the library lobby allows users to interactively explore a map highlighting the library’s Learning Commons services including the Writing Center, Math Tutoring, Career Preparation, Reference and more. The display will also feature student videos, Google Maps, slideshows, web pages, and YouTube videos. This interactive flat-panel display is an exciting addition to our signage, giving users the opportunity to explore Hannon Library and our information resources in a fun and innovative way.
A ready a showcase for art, Hannon Library has installed one of Ashland’s best-loved landmarks. The 19-foot, 3,000-pound “We Are Here” statue, formerly located where Lithia Way and North Main merge, has been installed in the library.

Carved from a 53-year-old alder tree by artist Russell Beebe and commissioned by local attorney Lloyd Haines, the sculpture memorializes Native peoples of Southern Oregon. Likenesses on the artwork include Takelma elder Agnes Baker Pilgrim.

In 2006, the statue was donated to the city of Ashland. Gradual deterioration necessitated relocation. A full-size, bronze replica of the sculpture, created by Jack Langford, now stands in its place on a stone base created by Jesse Biesan.

“We Are Here” was carefully moved into Hannon Library in a daylong process involving a crane, forklifts, chains, ropes, a flatbed truck, prayers, and laughter. The move was coordinated by Dan Walpeppa, with assistance from community members and the SOU Native American Student Union.

The May 25, 2013 dedication and blessing of “We Are Here” included presentations of blankets to those instrumental in the creation and moving of the sculpture. Elder Agnes Baker Pilgrim and well-known author and activist Winona LaDuke were on hand.

Career Preparation Services
SOU STUDENTS are encouraged to take an active role in their career development, and the Office of Career Preparation (OCP) is here to help with a slate of resources and services. In addition to hosting events like the annual career fair, employer presentations, and career development workshops, OCP offers individual student appointments and class presentations. OCP also manages a variety of online tools that can help students set career goals, find jobs and internships, and prepare application materials. Not sure what you need? Feel free to contact Max Brooks, the Career Preparation Coordinator, to discuss OCP’s services.

First Fridays!
Join us again this year for First Friday Art Walks on the first Friday evening of every month from 5:30 to 8:00 p.m. Hannon Library collections include a variety of permanent and temporary exhibits ranging from paintings and photos to historical artifacts and breathtaking sculptures. Enjoy live music performed by student virtuosos while viewing the art and artifact collections on display throughout the library. Guided tours run each half hour. Or, explore on your own and chat with guest artists.

Save this date! The First Friday on December 6 will feature presentations of blankets to those instrumental in the creation and moving of the sculpture. Elder Agnes Baker Pilgrim and well-known author and activist Winona LaDuke were on hand.

Preserving Wine History
With nearly 1,000 maps and literature books, collecting wine resources has long been a focus in Hannon Library. Growing out of this focus, in 2012 Hannon Library began a new project, Wine of Southern Oregon, to conduct outreach to vineyards, wineries, and industry experts, specifically those in the Rogue Valley American Viticultural Area (AVA), including the Bear Creek, Applegate, and Illinois valleys. The project aims to document the history of grape growing and wine production. Our growing collection contains wine bottle labels, photographs, and other items contributed by growers, vintners, organizations, and individuals.

Hannon Library’s efforts to preserve Oregon wine history complement efforts around the state, including the Oregon Wine History Archive established by Linfield College in 2011. Hannon Library is a partner in Linfield’s grant from the Oregon Wine Board that provided funding to preserve Oregon wine history. With Linfield, we co-hosted a reception in Hannon Library on July 3 for the Southern Oregon wine industry.

We are excited about the Wine of Southern Oregon project. We are preserving an important regional history. The wine labels, documents, photographs, and other materials that trace this history will be available for hands-on research and easily accessible online.

E-Resource Update
HANNON LIBRARY IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE FIVE NEW E-RESOURCES

IPA Source provides International Phonetic Alphabet transcriptions and literal translations of opera arias and art song texts. IPA Source is a resource for voice students, promoting comprehensive and accurate pronunciation of foreign language texts in art song and opera. IPA Source contains nearly 1,350 entries, including over 1,300 arias.

National Geographic Magazine Archive is the complete archive of National Geographic Magazine, from 1888 up to 1994, with color images of all pages, including maps, and detailed indexing of articles, maps, supplements, and advertisements. Purchased by Friends of Hannon Library.

Oxford Art Online provides access to four major art resources: Grove Art Online, Concise Oxford Dictionary of Art Terms, Encyclopedia of Aesthetics, and Oxford Companion to Western Art. Articles cover Western and non-Western visual culture from prehistory to present. Searchable images enhance the database.

PsycTests, an APA database, provides ready-to-use psychological tests, measures, scales, and surveys. PsycTests features over 500 published tests, with links to peer-reviewed articles, reports, and dissertations that describe the instruments. Commercially available tests indexed by APA are described, with publisher links for purchase.

Sage Deep Backfile new content includes 57 journals with coverage beginning at Volume 1, Issue 1 of each title. Sage acquires new journals regularly and we have not updated our bubble for several years. Particularly useful in the social sciences, Sage journal support all disciplines. Purchased by Friends of Hannon Library.

Access has ended for two e-resources, JSTOR Plant Science and World Almanac. E-resources can be accessed from the library’s website, hannon.sou.edu. For information, call 541-552-6440.

Comings and Goings
Fall staffing changes at Hannon Library
Dale Vidmar, Library Instruction Coordinator, will be on sabbatical from September through June. His sabbatical activities will include writing an article, taking online courses, creating library tutorials, and developing an instrument for assessing student papers and bibliographies to gauge how effectively students use and evaluate information.

Teresa Montgomery will be retiring and moving to a 600-hour schedule after December 31. Teresa plans to work part-time during fall and spring terms. She will continue to work on digitization initiatives and the migration to the new Ohio Cascade ILS (Shared Integrated Library System).

Now adjunct librarians Mary Hans and Scott Miller will help fill the gap at the reference desk and with some of his teaching load. Mary has a Master’s Degree in Library and Information Science from UC Berkeley. Scott has a MA in Music from University of Minnesota and MS in Library Science from University of North Texas.

Michelle Schuster has accepted a position in Vancouver, WA. We are pleased to welcome Alkosa Koblisczinski as our new Assistant to the Dean. Alkusa graduated with honors from SUNY in Business Management and in 2012 earned her Master in Management, Certificate in Sustainability Leadership. She most recently worked in Business Services as Guests Coordinator.

Jon Jennings has left his position as Learning Commons Program Assistant as he completes a Master of Arts in Teaching. We miss Jon and know he will be a great teacher!